The Chapin Sisters to bring their harmonies to LAFTA mainstage

On Saturday, January 17, 2015 at 7:30 p.m. Abigail and Lily Chapin, daughters of folk great Tom Chapin and nieces of the late Harry Chapin, will bring their performance to the LAFTA mainstage at the 7th St. Loft, 504 S. 7th St. They clearly have folk in their genes and are known for pristine harmonies and haunting melodies born of traditional Anglo-American folk, gospel, and mountain music — the pre-bluegrass sound of Appalachia, but updated with a modern feel. Their gorgeous vocals are underpinned by sparse guitar work in songs that are a near-perfect melding of folk, pop, and country sensibilities (with an added touch of rock here and there). Not afraid of a "concept", their 2013 album "A Date with the Everly Brothers" features covers of classic Everly Brothers songs infused with the Chapin's country feel. The Chapin Sisters are sure to bring a unique sound to the LAFTA stage.

Regular ticket pricing of $13 for members, $17 for nonmembers, students with ID are $10 and children under 12 for $1 applies with tickets online at www.lafta.net or at the door the evening of the performance. More information is available on the web at www.lafta.net or at 402-580-8656, the LAFTA phone number.

C. Daniel Boling will be hosted at a LAFTA House Concert on Saturday, January 31, 7:30 p.m. at 5109 Foxglove Circle, Lincoln, NE. Sharing experiences from a life well-lived in places as far-ranging as Okinawa, Japan, and Padre Island, Texas, balladeer/songwriter Dan Boling applies a friendly tenor voice to his well-crafted story songs to entertain lucky audiences coast-to-coast in over one hundred shows a year. Dan is the 2014 Winner of the New Folksongwriter contest at the Kerrville Folk Festival, a testament to his clever, insightful lyrics and lovely melodies. His live show is entertaining from beginning to end, with songs ranging from serious to totally hilarious. Whether or not you've walked the very same roads, you can't help but relate to his songs and no matter what your story, you'll love Daniel's.

Artist donation at the door is $15. Daniel will be providing a songwriter's workshop at 5:30 p.m. at a minimal cost of $10 per person. There will be food provided at 6:30 p.m. which is included in the price of the ticket donation.

Because of limited space, it is best to reserve a seat. Contact info: 515-664-7459 or e-mail dorothyramsey@gmail.com

The Haunted Windchimes Sat., Feb. 21, 2015 at 7:30 p.m.

The Haunted Windchimes sound draws from traditional folk and American roots music. The songs have a vintage quality, as if they might have been written yesterday or 75 years ago. Grounded in honeyed harmonies and spirited pickin', it lies in a nowhere land between distinct styles: It's not quite bluegrass or blues or country. Still, there are elements of all those in songs that paint pictures of empty train stations and nights of passing a jug of moonshine around. It's the vocal harmonies that really set them apart, a three-headed juggernaut of Desirae Garcia (ukulele), Chela Lujan (banjo) and Inaiah Lujan (guitar). "When their voices blend, it is nothing short of beautiful," writes Bill Reed of The Colorado Springs Gazette. The sound is often moody and melancholy, but it is always deeply affecting. That sound is embroidered by the instrumental mastery of Mike Clark (harmonica, guitar and mandolin).

"They recreate the vibe of rural 1930s music with a contemporary consciousness. The rustic, honeyed harmonies are a delight."
- Bruce Sylvester, Sing Out! Magazine "Popular among the grey hairs, green hairs, purple hairs and all over." - Garrison Keilor, A Prairie Home Companion.

The Haunted Windchimes will bring their performance to the LAFTA mainstage at the 7th St. Loft, 504 S. 7th St. At 7:30 p.m. Regular ticket pricing of $13 for members, $17 for nonmembers, students with ID are $10 and children under 12 for $1 applies with tickets online at www.lafta.net or at the door the evening of the performance.
